

Lighthouse Integrates Ageotec

Lighthouse, Italy, has entered into a definitive agreement to merge with Ageotec, the Italian Company known worldwide for its ROVs and the global supplying of survey equipment. In a phase of corporate reorganization, Lighthouse and Ageotec have decided to improve their organisational structure by creating new synergies, leveraging expertise and strengthening the sale department. The ROVs will continue to be branded as Ageotec.

Lighthouse will continue to provide positioning services, geophysical acquisition and data processing with care, passion and the competence acquired from more than 30 years in the field. The existing sale structure will be strengthened thanks to Ageotec staff, who will handle the sale of ROVs and oceanographic, geophysical and hydrographic equipment. They will carry forward the spirit that has always characterised them: constant, timely and with personalised assistance to the customer.

Steadily linked for more than ten years, Lighthouse and Ageotec have been part of the same Holding Group which comprised Companies running independent activities in diversified markets, within the common business of marine exploration.

Always side by side, sharing knowledge, facing challenges together, Lighthouse and Ageotec people already felt like they were part of the same staff before today. And now, we are all formerly part of the same team.
