

New Website for Hydro International

As the Hydro International team, we are proud to announce that our website has been completely revamped. The new version is fully compatible with all your devices, including with smartphones and tablets. It will enable us to further improve our service to you by providing even more relevant and varied content than before.

The new website will continue to bring you the latest news, trends and developments from the hydrographic world supplemented by exclusive and relevant background articles, columns and reports. We strive to cover the global hydrographic community in its entirety and we are always open to suggestions for further improvements. Please contact us with your feedback!

---

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/new-website-for-hydro-international>

---