

Nominations Sought for AMSI Council's Business Person of the Year 2016

The Society of Maritime Industries, through its AMSI Council, invites nominations for the Business Person of the Year 2016 award. This prestigious annual accolade recognises individuals who have contributed most to the business of the marine science and technology sector in the UK. Anybody may nominate a candidate as the AMSI Council Business Person of the Year 2016, but nominations need to be received by 30 November 2015.

To nominate a professional or scientist, use the online form.

According to John Murray, chief executive of the Society of Maritime Industries, a number of criteria could apply. Nominees may have demonstrated business growth and success, innovative applications or novel approaches to the sector, for example. He added that entries are welcome for anyone working in the UK marine science field who has made a significant contribution to business in the marine science and technology sector.

Previous Winners

Previous winners of the award have been Versha Carter (Intelligent Exhibitions), John Partridge (Sonardyne International), Matthew Quartley (Valeport), Ralph Rayner (BMT Group), Brendan Hyland (WFS Technologies), Keith Birch (National Oceanography Centre), Roger Scrivens (RS Aqua) and Dan Hook (ASV), all of whom have exemplified the spirit of this award through their flair, innovation and business acumen.

Image: Dan Hook received the award in 2015.