

Deep Ocean Engineering Welcomes VP of Sales and Marketing

Deep Ocean Engineering, USA, has welcomed Raul Enrique Pena as its vice president of Sales and Marketing. He is to drive the growth of Deep Ocean while expanding its presence internationally.

Raul brings an in-depth knowledge of sales, channel management, business development and marketing from his successful career in telecom and tech, having worked in both start-up and established organisations. He has conducted business in Latin America, Asia and Europe in recent years, and will be focused on strengthening Deep Ocean Engineering's relationships with clients and sales channels both domestically and internationally.