

EdgeTech Expands Customer Support Team

EdgeTech is making changes in the Customer Support Team. The company recently promoted Dylan Lynch (image) to the role of Customer Service Manager. Adam Lipper has recently joined the company as a Customer Service Engineer.

Dylan has worked with EdgeTech for over seven years, holds an Ocean Engineering degree, and is extremely knowledgeable on all of the EdgeTech products. Dylan has travelled the globe supporting customers and has valuable hands-on experience working with various customer configurations from towed side-scan sonar and sub-bottom profilers to AUV and ROV-based sonar systems offered by EdgeTech.

Adam has over ten years in the industry with countless off-shore trips helping customers with acoustic communication and related underwater equipment.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/edgetech-expands-customer-support-team>
