

Nautronix Wins Major Contract In Norway

Nautronix, headquartered in the UK, has been awarded a three-year contract by the Norwegian SURF contractor, Ocean Installer AS, for the supply of survey services to support its offshore construction activities. The contract includes the provision of onshore and offshore survey services in support of tendering and project activities.

Nautronix will initially mobilise survey personnel and equipment onto the Normand Clipper, Ocean Installer's long-term chartered construction vessel due to commence offshore operations in May 2012.

Ocean Installer AS was founded in early 2011 and is headquartered in Stavanger, Norway. Nautronix recently announced the opening of a new office in Stavanger and the hiring of Jørn Berg as VP Sales for the region.
