

North American Merger Creates MacArtney Inc.

MacArtney Underwater Technology Group, Denmark, has announced that it has expanded its North American operations. MacArtney Offshore and M.J. Stewart Associates have now joined forces as MacArtney Inc. MacArtney Inc. has assumed responsibility for SubConn sales in North America and augmented the sales organisation with additional products and expanded stocks.

M.J. Stewart Associates has been the sales organisation for SubConn wet-mateable connectors in the US for over 15 years and MacArtney Group has been responsible for SubConn sales for the rest of the world. The MacArtney Offshore office and workshop in Houston has been offering a wide range of underwater technology systems and services since 1995. Now combined as MacArtney Inc., the offices and workshops in Boston and Houston provide an increased sales base in the US, giving customers larger stocks and capacity for even better service and faster delivery.

The personnel from MacArtney Offshore and M. J. Stewart Associates will remain with MacArtney Inc. and all contacts, telephone numbers and office addresses are the same.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/north-american-merger-creates-macartney-inc>
