

AMSI Business Person of the Year 2008 Nomination Form

The Award

The UK marine science sector is a vibrant industry epitomised by enthusiastic and successful entrepreneurs with leading edge technology supported by world leading research institutions. The Society of Maritime Industries, through its constituent association the Association of Marine Scientific Industries (AMSI), is launching a new award to recognise individuals who have contributed most to the business of the marine science and technology sector in the UK.

Nominations are now invited for the AMSI Business Person of the Year 2008 by completion of the form below to be received no later than 31 December 2007. Entries are welcome for anyone working in the UK marine science field who has made a significant contribution to business in the marine science and technology sector. A number of criteria could apply and nominees may have demonstrated business growth and success, innovative applications, novel approaches to employee relations, together with a wider support for the sector including impact on communities or causes through overcoming difficulties. Assessment will be made by a special panel from the Society of Maritime Industries and the Institute of Marine Engineering, Science and Technology (IMarEST).

The award will be presented at a special ceremony during Oceanology International 2008 at ExCel London in March 2008.
