

Atlas Professionals Expands its Survey Team

Atlas Professionals has appointed Paul Hampton as their Survey Business manager. Paul brings with him extensive experience and a contagious enthusiasm. With his extensive background in the industry spanning over 15 years, focusing on the Offshore Survey and Construction sector, both in Oil & Gas and Renewables, and also as an onshore Operations manager, Paul will bring his experience, understanding and drive to Atlas.

Andrew Blears, director responsible for Atlas Professionals Survey, ROV and Exploration Divisions explains that Paul's experience ranges from academia, working with the British Antarctic Survey to industrial and commercial, working for various high profile companies within the offshore industry. It was this background, combined with having real and current hands on experience of working offshore and with offshore teams that convinced Atlas Professionals.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/atlas-professionals-expands-its-survey-team>
