

MacArtney Expands UK Activities

Optimism and belief in a positive trend in the market and future operations have triggered the opening of a new MacArtney office in South London, UK. Gary Kelly, system sales manager, is in charge of sales and support at the MacArtney UK southern office.

The new office located in south London will be run as an affiliate unit under the MacArtney UK umbrella. Headquartered in Aberdeen, MacArtney UK serves companies and operators working on the UK continental shelf and beyond providing advanced underwater technology solutions for applications to all UK and Ireland based customers working in offshore oil and gas, marine renewables, offshore wind, fisheries, ocean science, defence, and civil engineering markets. Housed in a modern 3000m² custom built facility close to Aberdeen Airport, MacArtney UK currently employs more than 40 people in a variety of sales, workshop, administration, HR, and QHSE roles.

The MacArtney Group has expanded the existing UK operations in response to increased levels of business coming from customers based in the southern part of the UK. The decision was taken as a result of the customer demand for local sales support and services and will allow MacArtney UK to provide an improved service covering their extensive range of underwater technology products, systems, and services throughout the UK.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/macartney-expands-uk-activities>
