

Career Website

This month, Surveyorworld.com launched their new career website for the hydrographic business. It enables jobseekers in hydrographic surveying in finding permanent positions, or opportunities for employees on a project or trainee base.

The site is positioned as an engine to search for job postings and as a resourceful tool for employers to utilise in their search for employees.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/career-website>
