

Deep-water Industry Event

The "mce Deepwater Development" 2009 technical conference is, for the first time, to be held in Copenhagen (Denmark). It features a packed technical programme and is supported by an exhibition showcasing the world's major companies operating within the deepwater sector.

Hosted by Maersk Oil and organised by Quest Offshore, this year's conference will see Maersk Oil's CEO, Thomas Thune Anderson, welcoming the international delegates and presenting the conference's keynote speech.

According to Quest Offshore, the current estimate of 2009 Global Deepwater Spend is USD164 billion, the oil price is hovering around USD40/bbl and major discoveries for example, offshore West Africa, Brazil, Malaysia and in the US Gulf, should lead to renewed impetus in the deepwater sector.

Topics cover deepwater solutions from floating production to insulation and flowlines, subsea processing, plus riser, drilling and well technologies.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/deep-water-industry-event>
