

DHI Joins World Ocean Council

DHI, Denmark, has joined the World Ocean Council. The company is seeking to better engage in sustainable development and stewardship of the marine and coastal environment through collaboration with the diverse international ocean business leadership community formed by the WOC.

DHI is a global player in solving challenges related to the world's oceans through its marine solutions and MIKE Powered by DHI modelling software. The company's membership in the WOC fits well with its efforts to help solve the world's toughest challenges in water environments and will enable DHI to contribute to major commercial developments in relation to the sustainable use of the world's oceans.
