

ECDIS™ ADVETO Partnership

Training company ECDIS Ltd of the UK and ADVETO of Sweden have entered into partnership in order to provide customers with portable training on ADVETO™s ECDIS 4000. ECDIS Ltd is actively seeking to partner reliable ECDIS manufacturers with type-approved systems.

Malcolm Instone, Director of Operations at ECDIS Ltd added, "We are delighted to form a partnership with ADVETO. When an ECDIS is sold the customer not only wants a user-friendly and capable system, but also to be confident of utilising it correctly and safely. We can offer ADVETO customers our state-approved ECDIS training course at a time when the IMO has decided to make ECDIS carriage mandatory".

"ECDIS Ltd will, in addition to the training, also act as an ADVETO retail partner, which fits well into our growth strategy" says Magnus Karlsson, Marketing Manager of ADVETO. "With ECDIS Ltd well-trained staff and their Electronic Navigation experience we are certain the customers will be well trained and that ECDIS Ltd will, in a non-biased way, advise potential customers on the most cost-effective ECDIS System".

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/ecdis-adveto-partnership>
