

Hydrography & Marine SDI Symposium

UK National Hydrographer Rear Admiral Ian Moncrieff will be the Keynote Speaker at a one-day symposium on Hydrography & Marine Spatial Data Infrastructure organised by The Hydrographic Society UK's Southern Region at Bradfield College, Reading on Tuesday 27 October.

The event will appeal to all those who work with marine data, and those looking to make their projects and businesses more streamlined and cost effective through more intelligent gathering and use of Marine data sets. Potential delegates should note that discounted "Early Bird" registration is only available until the end of August. Full details are available at the THS UK website, where online registration and payment options are available.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/hydrography-marine-sdi-symposium>
