

iXBlue Representation at OI China

The French manufacturer iXBlue is presenting navigation, acoustic and imaging products at 2014 Oceanology International China. The event is taking place from 3-5 September 2014 at INTEX Shanghai. The company is showcasing products and solutions in ship navigation and control, subsea navigation and positioning, moorings and releases and seabed mapping.

With offices around the globe, including China, iXBlue serves thousands of customers in applications that include offshore oil & gas, construction and dredging, hydrography and geophysics, ocean science, maritime vessels and yachting, trawl and seine fishing.

iXBlue can be found in booth C50.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/ixblue-representation-at-oi-china>
