Management Issues to be Discussed during European Dredging Summit

The European Dredging Summit is to take place on 7–8 October 2015 in Antwerp, Belgium. Speakers and delegates at the summit will discuss and evaluate the essential dredging strategies and environmental monitoring for project approval. Key industry players will give in-depth presentations and get involved in the panel discussions with the senior-level audience, covering the most important topics in the market.

They will provide a global analysis of dredging projects, environmental regulation and essential recommendations for dredging activity including equipment and contractor selection. The summit is mainly aiming at projects that are taking place across the globe for the senior management based in Europe, but is not limited to the dredging companies and ports.

Topics of the conference include subjects like recent regulatory changes affecting dredging projects; latest developments & innovations in dredging technologies & techniques; effective maintenance dredging; economic outlook of the future dredging projects (Europe as well as global) and project financing & budget management.
