

New Nova Scotia Office for AML

AML Oceanographic has opened a new office in Nova Scotia, Canada. Situated at 800A Windmill Road, Unit 6C in Dartmouth, the new office will be staffed by recent additions to the AML team: Mark Smith, Darrell Groom, and Murray Eisan.

Their extensive backgrounds in the ocean technology industry bring practical experience to AML and its customers. In addition to providing customers extended access to AML service and support, their focus will be on the technical development and production of sensor platforms and instrumentation. Founded in 1974 in British Columbia, Canada, AML is a leading manufacturer of instrumentation and sensors for hydrographic surveying, environmental monitoring and more.
