

New Quality Standard for OSIL Service Division

OSIL is pleased to announce that it has achieved the internationally recognised certification BS EN ISO 9001:2000, continuing its commitment to quality in instrument service, calibration and repair. This new standard replaces the ISO 9002 status that OSIL had maintained for the past 10 years. National Quality Assurance Ltd (NQA) independently assessed all activities of this division for the new standard.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/new-quality-standard-for-osil-service-division>
