

New Website for Transas Group

The Transas Group announces the launch of the fifth version of the company's official English website and completion of works on the development of new design standards for the company's line of sites.

Whilst carrying out the project the latest developments in the sphere of informational architecture and site-navigational systems were applied. There are some notable improvements with interface, operating speed, increased safety of information storage, local versions support according to all abovementioned standards, information availability via light visual design, prompt updates and data addition.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/new-website-for-transas-group>
