With still eight months to go until Ocean Business 2015, all space on the trade-show floor has sold out, according to the organisers. With over 300 businesses and organisations from 21 countries booked, Ocean Business 2015 is set to be a highlight in the ocean technology calendar. Ocean Business 2015 will be held on 14-16 April 2015 at the NOC, Southampton, UK.

The event will be offering visitors an international trade show and a training & demonstration programme which enables visitors to actually test drive equipment at sea, in the dockside, in a test tank and in classrooms.

Running alongside the tradeshow and workshops is Offshore Survey, a technical conference and Ocean Careers, an interactive careers event – visitors are spoilt for choice. Ocean Business is also well known for organising special social events, and 2015 will be no exception.

Registration for the exhibition, workshops and Ocean Careers is free (there is a fee to attend the Offshore Survey conference) and registration will be open soon.
