

Saab Seaeye Expands Business Development Operations

Saab Seaeye, a manufacturer of electric underwater robotic vehicles is expanding its business operations with the appointment of Ryan Lumsden as business development manager. Lumsden has wide experience in the underwater vehicle market and will join the company's sales and marketing team where he will focus on further growing the company position in the electric vehicle market.

Ryan Lumsden will be based in Aberdeen, Scotland, and not at Saab Seaeye's head office in Fareham, England.