

Workshop on Data Management

Cadcorp and OceanWise are to organise a workshop entitled 'Gaining Operational and Business Efficiencies from Effective Data Management' on Tuesday 20 November 2012 at The School of Economic Science in London, UK. This workshop aims to explore how data management best practice will lead to significant costs savings and improved operational efficiencies across the maritime domain in both the public and private sectors.

The workshop will describe tools and techniques available and how these can be applied to the working environment of the participants. Existing customers will present practical examples of how Cadcorp technologies and OceanWise's products and services are successfully delivering benefits and cost savings.

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/workshop-on-data-management>
