

Young Marine Scientists' Day Registration Open

With a total of 80 abstracts submitted, the VLIZ Young Scientists' Day 2013, which is to be held on Friday 15 February 2013 in Bruges, Belgium, is an interesting seminar to attend. Registration is open now. A detailed programme of the hydrographic and marine science presentations will be announced later in January.

New this year is that the Young Scientists' Day is preceded on Thursday afternoon (14 February 2013) by the VLIZ mini-symposium 'Marine Observations in the Southern Bight of the North Sea', during which the organisers will present research and researchers from the institutions in the wider region of the Southern Bight of the North Sea.

---

<https://www.hydro-international.com/content/news/young-marine-scientists-day-registration-open>

---